It is most fitting that iPalpiti celebrates Eduard Schmieder's 70th year, opening the Festival with a gala at Music Center's Walt Disney Concert Hall, just a year after iPalpiti's own 20th anniversary.

Their lifelines are inextricably intertwined. Maestro Schmieder has dedicated his life to music, as a virtuoso violinist, as a renowned teacher, as a conductor, and as an inspirational teacher to a generation of musicians. In this remarkable history, the year 1997 was a turning point. With the support and encouragement of the late Lord Yehudi Menuhin, Laura and Eduard Schmieder founded the organization we now know as iPalpiti, with the most ambitious goals: to imbue the next generation with the profound musical values so valued by Menuhin, the Schmieders and by the most dedicated musicians of the classical tradition. At the time, this project was nothing short of a labor of love, but its ultimate success was, at best, a mere glint in the founders' eyes.

Now, two decades later, those goals have been achieved, con spirito. iPalpiti has performed important compositions new and old around the globe, created a broad and respected discography, but most important, it has been the springboard for a generation of great classical musicians, who now populate the world's leading ensembles and the solo stage. It is especially encouraging that several iPalpiti alumni have themselves gone on to found their own music festivals for emerging artists, carrying forward iPalpiti's mission. The seeds planted in 1997 have borne exceptional fruit.

None of this could have happened without Schmieder's exceptional musical depth and sensitivity, and his infectious way of transmitting it. As the late Theodore Bikel once said, "Eduard is incapable of performing a meaningless note." His conducting and his teaching painstakingly search out the heart of music, hence the name iPalpiti: heartbeats.

In a time where irony, distance and intellectual reserve are so highly valued, Schmieder retains the belief that music has the power to open hearts and heal souls, and to summon the better angels of our nature. With iPalpiti, he has brought this vision to audiences and performers around the world.

On this, his 70th year, Eduard Schmieder can look out and see that his message of hope and beauty has been received by a generation of great young musicians, and by a worldwide audience that appreciates the depth of his musical commitment.

Come to one or to all Festival concerts (see next pages for artists/programs/schedules/tickets). You, our supporters, friends, and audience, best support us by coming to the concerts and events, buying tickets not only for yourself but for your friends, and introducing other music lovers to iPalpiti!

FEATURED SOLOIST: Eldar Sapaarayev, Kazakhstan-Germany-Switzerland

iPalpiti alumnus (2004), Eldar is a Principal Cellist of the Südwestsdeutschen Philharmonie Orchestra in Konstanz, Germany, Chief Conductor of the Euro Sinfonietta Wien, Artistic Director of "Klassik Konstanz" Chamber Music Concerts, and is a member of the Philharmonische Cellisten Köln.

Winner of only first prizes in every competition he entered, including 1st Prize in The International Anthonio Janigro Competition in Croatia in 2000, Eldar received numerous international awards and recognitions. In chamber music he had the honor of playing with true virtuosos in classical performance, such as Dmitri Sitkovetsky, Vladimir Ashkenazy, Heinrich Schiff, Bobby McFerrin, and David Geringas.

Born in Kazakhstan in 1980 to an artistic family, Eldar continues the tradition of playing cello in the 4th generation handed down on his father's side of the family for nearly 80 years. His father, Professor Zaur Sapaarayev, began teaching cello to Eldar when he was six. After completing the Baiseitova Music School for Gifted Children in Almaty, Kazakhstan with Honours in 1998, he joined Kazakh National Music Academy. By 2004, Eldar obtained his Bachelor and two Masters of Arts degrees with honors at the Hochschule für Musik und Theater in Zurich. Throughout his successful studies in Zurich, Eldar completed two years of the exchange program in the class of David Geringas in Hanns Eisler's Hochschule für Musik in Berlin as a recipient of the Bernhard Greenhouse Fund. In 2016, he earned the Masters of Arts Degree in Conducting at the Conservatorio della Svizzera Italiana. Jaques Leiser, manager of Sviatoslav Richter, Alfred Cortot, David Oistrakh, and Maria Callas, mentored and praised Eldar as "a grand virtuoso of the past eras, a true musician, and a poet with vast passion and individuality."

ALUMNI NEWS:

Karina and her brother cellist Nick Canellakis (also iPalpiti alumnus) backstage at Kimmel Center with Maestro Eduard Schmieder.

Violinist/Conductor Karina Canellakis, is appointed as the Chief Conductor for the Netherlands Radio Philharmonic Orchestra starting 2019 season. Winner of the 2016 Sir Solti Conducting Award, she has been internationally acclaimed and has been a guest conductor of the leading orchestras including BBC, Dallas Symphony, LA Phil, Orchestre de Paris, etc.

Violinist Nora Hapca, iPalpiti member since 2004, won a permanent position at Staatskapelle Berlin, one of the leading orchestras in the world, with Maestro Daniel Barenboim, principal conductor.

ALUMNI STARTUP: Violinist Vladimir Dyo founded Global Music Partnership.

In May, GMP First Festival took place at 1867 Sanctuary Ewing, NJ.

Next GMP stop: UN International Day Against Nuclear Tests, NY August 29.

Maestro accepted advisory role, conductor and judge.

iPalpiti alumni joined the project, including Eldar Sapaarayev who flew in from Switzerland.

SEASON MEMENTOS

THE TWO-WEEK TOUR TO ISRAEL NOVEMBER 17 - DECEMBER 3, 2017 WAS THE HIGHLIGHT OF iPALPITI'S 20TH ANNIVERSARY SEASON.

The residence started in Keshet Eilon (the only Performing Arts Center kibbutz in Israel). SEVEN sold-out concerts were given in nine days in Tel Aviv Arts Museum, YMCA Jerusalem, Ashkelon, Petach Tikva, Richon LeZion performing centers, with the final concert in Haifa. On free days, we sent musicians on tours to Masada, Dead Sea, Zfat, and Old City, including Western Wall.

Arrival & concert at the Recanati Auditorium in Tel Aviv Museum of Art

Final photo together after last concert in Haifa

Daily rehearsals in-residency at Keshet Eilon, with local "young audiences"

Leib & Sara Rigler (brother of our supporter James Rigler) invited iPalpiti for a private tour of their 900 year-old historic house in Jerusalem by David's Tower

Arrival to Jerusalem' 3 Arches HOTEL & concert at YMCA

Thanksgiving dinner at Keshet by Chef Ofer

Post-rehearsal massage "train"

Pre-concert lobby at Ashkelon

Concert at Hatarbut Petach Tikva

Concert at Richon LeZion

Fun days at Masada, Dead Sea (guided by iPalpiti cellist Yoni Drainplate's father) and in Tsfat.
